2. Common Items

(1) Access URL

The access URL (base URL) of each provision method is as follows:

Table 2-1 Access URL

No.	Provision method	URL
1	SRU	http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/sru
2	SRW	http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/srw

5	Z39.50	iss.ndl.go.jp:210
6	OAI-PMH	http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/oaipmh

You can access WSDL and OpenSearch Description Document, which are the setting files for SRW and OpenSearch, respectively, at the following URL:

・http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/srwwsdl

・http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/opensearch_description

(2) List of data providers and their IDs

In each provision method, the database for a search request (hereinafter referred to as "data provider") shall be specified with data provider ID. Data providers are added at any time. For the list of the latest data providers and their IDs, see Appendix 1: List of data providers and their corresponding Application Programming Interfaces (API) in this document.

(3) Data provider group

In each provision method, you can specify group of data providers instead of directly specifying data provider IDs. Following table shows data provider groups:

Table 2-2 Data provider groups

No.	Data provider group ID	Details of data provider groups
1	Digitalcontents	Body text, digital images, etc. (Primary information)
2	Catalogue	Listing, index, etc.
3	Site	Site information
4	Reference	Information convenient for search, reference information
5	Science	Information about natural sciences
6	Humanities	Information about humanities
7	Library	Information concerning libraries
8	Child	Information for children
9	Ndl	Information provided by NDL

For correspondence between data provider groups and data providers, see Appendix 1: List of data providers and their corresponding Application Programming Interfaces (API) in this document.

(4) Character code

Character code shall be UTF-8 for any provision method.

(5) Difference between harvest type and cross search type by data provider

Data providers to be searched in this service are mainly classified into following two types as search method implementations:

- Harvest type: Metadata is collected (harvested) from data providers and a database as this service is created with collected data.
- Cross search type: No database is created but a request is issued directly to data providers via a network at the time of search.

At an application programming interface (API), no result is acquired from data providers in cross search type; therefore, Table 1 “List of data providers and their corresponding Application Programming Interfaces (API)" and Table 2 “Data provider groups and their corresponding data provider" of Appendix 1 describes only harvest-type data providers, and no cross search-type data provider is described.

(6) Relationship with search function of this service

Available search conditions vary depending on each interface, and these conditions differ from the search items in this service. Remember that at the Application Programming Interface (API), basically only part of the conditions available for this service is supported.

(7) Format and contents of data

Format (schema) and contents of data to be returned are explained in the description on each interface in the next section onwards. The "dcndl" and "dcndl_simple" formats or data to be returned are the formats defined in this service based on the NDL Dubrin Core Metadata Description (DC-NDL). For details about dcndl and dcndl_simple, see the DC-NDL (RDF) Format Specifications and DC-NDL (Simple) Format Specifications, respectively.

3. SRU

Note that the sort criterion that is valid for NDL Search is "title," "creator," "created_date," "modified_date" or "issued_date." To indicate the ascending or descending order, /sort.ascending or /sort.descending shall follow the item.

If a search keyword includes "AND" or "OR" (also includes "andy," "organic," etc.), a search error occurs. To avoid this error, add "%20" to before and after "%3d" and execute search.

Example: When you want to specify the search keyword "andy" for the title

Specify "title%20%3d%20%22andy%22."

For the items, "title," "creator," and "publisher," prefix match (^), partial match, and exact match (exact) can be specified as matching condition. If no condition is specified, partial match is assumed.

For other items, no matching condition can be specified.

For "isbn" and "issn," exact match is assumed as the matching condition. If 10- or 13-digit isbn is entered, the condition is converted to both 10 and 13 digits to perform exact match search. If entered in other digits than 10 or 13, the exact match search shall be performed; no other search, such as the prefix search, shall be performed.

For "dpid," "dpgroupid," etc., exact match is assumed as matching condition.

* For the items other than "dpid" and "dpgroupid" for which exact match is assumed, see "Table 3-3 Conditions that can be specified for each item of SRU."

For description and subject, partial match is assumed.

The items, from and until, are specified in YYYY-MM-DD format, and exact match is assumed as matching condition for them. Note that YYYY or YYYY-MM format is also available, and in this case, YYYY-01-01 or YYYY-MM-01 for YYYY or YYYY-MM, respectively, is assumed to be specified as matching condition for exact match.

In addition, as logical condition for each item, you can specify "and" or "or." For join condition for items, you can specify either "all and" or "all or."

Following table shows possible conditions for each item

Table 3-3 Possible conditions for each item of SRU

To specify multiple values for one item, you must use "" to enclose the specified values (example: title="ruby python"). If specified value is just one and thus no ambiguity occurs, "" can be omitted.

(Example: title=architecture)

(8) Request example (CQL example)

Example 1: If the material was published after January 1, 2008 and the title includes "桜," the request shall be title="桜"AND from="2008."

* For the actual request URL to this service, this request is encoded to (title%3d%22%e6%a1%9c%22%20AND%20from%3d%222008%22), and this is added to the query, resulting in the following:

http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/sru?operation=searchRetrieve&query=title%3d%22%e6%a1%9c%22%20AND%20from%3d%222008%22

For items, "title," "creator," and "publisher," prefix match (^), partial match, and exact match (exact) can be specified as matching condition. If no condition is specified, partial match is assumed.

For the other items, no matching condition can be specified.

For "isbn" and "issn," exact match is assumed as matching condition. If 10- or 13-digit isbn is entered, the condition is converted to both 10 and 13 digits to perform exact match search. If entered in other digits than 10 or 13, exact match search shall be performed; no other search, such as prefix search, shall be performed.

For "description" and "subject," the partial match is assumed

The items, "from" and "until," are specified in YYYY-MM-DD format, and exact match is assumed as matching condition for them. Note that YYYY or YYYY-MM format is also available, and in this case, YYYY-01-01 or YYYY-MM-01 for YYYY or YYYY-MM, respectively, is assumed to be specified as matching condition for exact match.

In addition, as logical condition for each item, you can specify "and" or "or". For join condition for items, you can specify either all "and" or all "or".

Following table shows possible conditions for each item

5. OpenSearch

(1) Overview

This is an interface for external institutions to use this service for search and acquire the search result by OpenSearch.

OpenSearch issues a search request in a URL and acquires the search result in RSS 2.0 format. You can find the basic specifications at the following URL. Supported version for this service is 1.0.

http://a9.com/-/spec/opensearchrss/1.0/

(2) Request format

Request format is following URL.

Note: The logical conditions between items are all AND.

Note: Space-separated multiple keywords can be specified in one search item.

In this case, OR search is used for "dpid" and AND search for other items. No search is available with only "dpid" or "dpgroupid" specified.

Note: If an argument (parameter) is wrong, no search result is acquired.

(4) Number of returned data records

Records of up to the number specified for cnt parameter are returned. The default is 200. The maximum number of records that can be acquired at a time is 500.

(5) Return format

The data return format is an extended version of RSS 2.0 for this service. For details about examples of returned data, see the appendix 3 ("Examples of returned data for each interface") in this document.

(6) Request example

Example 1: Title includes "マリーアントワネット".

http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/opensearch?title=%e3%83%9e%e3%83%aa%e3%83%bc%e3%82%a2%e3%83%b3%e3%83%88%e3%83%af%e3%83%8d%e3%83%83%e3%83%88

Example 2: Within Aozora Bunko, author includes "夏目".

6. OpenURL

(1) Overview

This is an interface for external institutions to use this service for search and acquire search results by OpenURL.

OpenURL returns a result on the screen (HTML) for a request issued in a URL. You can find the basic specifications at the following URL:
http://www.niso.org/kst/reports/standards?step=2&gid=None&project_key=d5320409c5160be4697dc046613f71b9a773cd9e

(2) Request format

A request is an URL in following format http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/openurl?genre=[genre]&…

Note that a search result HTML returned in this URL format is the same as the search result screen on the Web of this service; therefore, the result can be displayed only by a browser supporting this service.

(3) genre specification and where to search genre (or rtf.genre) can be specified. This service searches a different place depending on following three patterns. Note that the same result is acquired when specifying "genre=" or "rtf.genre=."

- For genre=article
- For other than genre=article (Other than article among possible items for genre for OpenURL)
- When genre is not specified

For details about correspondence between genre and data providers, see Appendix 2 "Specification of OpenURL-genre and the corresponding data provider" in this document.

If there is an inconsistency between specified items for genre (or rft.genre) and atitle or btitle, an error message is displayed and the search is stopped.

In addition, if ndl_dpid is specified for search, data provider specified for genre becomes invalid.

(4) atitle or btitle specification and where to search

If ndl_dpid is specified for search, specified atitle or btitle for search location becomes invalid, and the search is performed in the same manner when the title=search character string&ndl_dpid=search location is specified.

(5) Possible search items

This service supports a part of parameters (keys) of OpenURL1.0. Following table shows possible parameters:

Table 6-1 Search items concerning OpenURL

Note: The logical conditions between items are all AND.

Note: Space-separated multiple keywords can be specified for an item other than isbn, issn, and ndl_jpno. If multiple keywords are specified, OR search is used for "ndl_dpid" and AND search for other items.

*1: If "aufirst" and "aulast" are specified at the same time, these two conditions are used for AND search.

(6) Number of returned data records

7. Z39.50

(1) Overview

This is an interface for external institutions to use this service for search and acquire the search result by Z39.50.

Z39.50 is an information search protocol in server and client method. You can find its specifications at http://www.loc.gov/z3950/agency/Z39-50-2003.pdf

- Present (Acquisition of records)

Typically, following tools are used to develop a client:

- YAZ Toolkit - Z39.50, SRU/SRW supported library
- JZKit - Z39.50 library for Java

Created by reference to "http://ja.wikipedia.org/wiki/Z39.50"

(3) Specifications of search result return

A search result is returned in XML format.

For details about specification details and return data examples, see those of SRU.

8. OAI-PMH

(1) Overview

This is an interface providing metadata that this service collects by OAI-PMH (Open Archives Initiative Protocol for Metadata Harvesting).

OAI-PMH is a protocol being developed by OAI (Open Archives Initiative) for metadata exchange. You can find the basic specifications at the following URL:

http://www.openarchives.org/OAI/openarchivesprotpcol.html

In addition, the National Institute of Informatics published Japanese translation of this at http://www.nii.ac.jp/irp/archive/translation/oai-pmh2.0/

In OAI-PMH, you can access repositories by using the following six operations (called verb). "Item" is one data (In this service, a unit of information displayed as a search result).

- GetRecord (acquires one record of metadata of a particular item)
- Identify (acquires an information about a repository)
- ListIdentifiers (acquires identifiers of all items)
- ListMetadataFormats (acquires supported format of metadata)
- ListRecords (acquires metadata of all items)
- ListSets (acquires supported sets (group: narrowing condition))

Following describes the specifications of repository (Application Programming Interface (API) of OAI-PMH) of this service.

(2) Repository basic information

As repository basic information, describe return details in response to an Identify request.

Table 8-1 Repository basic information

Tag name	Details	Return value
repositoryName	Repository name	NDL Digital Archive Portal
baseURL	Base URL of the repository	http://iss.ndl.go.jp/api/oaipmh
protocolVersion	Version of OAI-PMH supported by the repository	Version 2.0
adminEmail	Email of the repository administrator
earliestDatestamp	Lower limit of all the date stamps for recording change, correction, and deletion within the repository. There is no item with date stamp earlier than this date.	Initial building date or full re-building date of repository
deletedRecord	Processing method for deleted repository records	transient: Retains the information on the deletion with restriction (Retain the records with date stamp of a certain date onwards)
granularity	Accuracy of date supported by the repository	YYYY-MM-DD
repositoryIdentifier	Name to uniquely identify the repository	oai:iss.ndl.go.jp:ID

(3) Support requests and arguments

The following requests and the arguments are supported.

Table 8-2 Requests and arguments

No.	Request	Arguments
		identifier	metadata Prefix	from	until	set	resumption Token
1	GetRecord	◎	◎	-	-	-	-
2	Identify	-	-	-	-		-
3	ListIdentifiers		◎	◎	Yes	Yes	Yes
4	ListMetadataFormats	Yes	-	-	-	-	-
5	ListRecords		◎	◎	Yes	Yes	Yes
6	ListSets	-	-	-	-	-	-

◎: Required, Yes: Optional (The period of from and until are limited, which is described later.)

(4) Set

"Set" is the definition for grouping items for selective harvest. "set" is also used to acquire metadata related only to item group with a particular attribute.

"Set" in this service is data provider (ID), data provider group (ID), and NDC described in Chapter 2. When "set" is specified, only the information of data provider, data provider group, or NDC is returned.

For NDC, prefix match shall be applied. For example, if one digit "7" is specified, bibliographic data belonging to the classification code "7xx" are output.

For example, if Aozora Bunko is specified for the data provider, specify as "set=aozora." For the data whose NDC classification is "735," specify as "set=735." For the data whose NDC classification of Aozora Bunko is "735," specify as "set=aozora:735" or "set=735:aozora."

* Since 2010, NDL has provided the newly acquired NDL bibliographic data. The data provider of the newly acquired NDL bibliographic data is NDL-OPAC. If you want to acquire the metadata of the newly acquired bibliographic data, make a request with "set=iss-ndl-opac-inprocess" specified. Note that although the metadata of NDL-OPAC can be acquired by a request with "set=iss-ndl-opac" specified, the result from this request does not include the data of the newly acquired NDL bibliographic data.

* Since 2013, NDL has provided the Japanese national bibliography. The data provider of the Japanese national bibliography is NDL-OPAC. If you want to acquire the metadata of the Japanese national bibliography, make a request with "set=iss-ndl-opac-national" specified. Note that the metadata of Japanese national bibliography,which have JPNO, is out of the metadata of NDL-OPAC requested with "set=iss-ndl-opac".

(5) Number of returned data records

For ListIdentifiers, ListRecords, and ListSets, the number of returned data records at a time is 200. To acquire 201st and later records, make a request while specifying the resumptionToken notified when the first 200 records were acquired.

(6) Return format

The data return format is XML. For the schema (metadataPrefix), you can select either oai_dc, dcndl or dcndl_simple.

To acquire the bibliographic data only, make a request with onlyBib=true specified.

(Available only when dcndl is specified for metadataPrefix)

For an example of returned data, see Appendix 3 (Examples of returned data for each interface) in this document.

(7) Identifier

For OAI-PMH, a unique item identifier on the repository side can be received on the service provider side. By using this, you can update the data on the service provider at the time of differential harvest (the parameter described as the identifier in (3) Support requests and argument).

This service uses this identifier as the metadata ID. (The ID, with the configuration shown below, uniquely given to all the metadata of this service.)

oai:iss.ndl.go.jp :[repository number]-[item number]-[branch number]

(8) from, until

If a date (YYYY-MM-DD or YYYY-MM-DDThh:mm:ssZ) is specified for "from," the bibliographic data updated after the specified date is returned. If a date (YYYY-MM-DD or YYYY-MM-DDThh:mm:ssZ) is specified for "until" the bibliographic data updated earlier than the specified date is returned.

The restriction on the period of "from" and "until," see "(10) Access restriction of OAI-PMH."

(9)Access restriction of OAI-PMH

OAI-PMH applies following restriction to accesses in order to prevent the load on this service from being raised by accesses for large data acquisition.

For ListRecords and Listidentifier, "from" is required. The following restriction is applied to the range (period) that can be specified by "from" or "until":

* Maximum period is one year.
* In case of non-specified, maximum period (one year) is automatically assigned.
